DIXIECRAT REVOLT MAY HASTEN OUSTING OF ELECTORAL COLLEGE

The Dixiecrat revolt may have been strictly a one-shot performance. But it is possible that it will bring Americans a bit closer to the day when they will lock the door of the Electoral College and throw the key away. It all depends on what the 40 Thurmond-Wright electors do. Senator Ellender of Louisiana recently visited the White House, and afterwards said he had told the President that he was going to try to get those 40 electors to cast their ballots for Mr. Truman and Senator Barkley, rather than for the States' Rights slate.

They would be entirely within their rights if they did this. They are not directed by the Constitution to conform their choice to the popular vote.

But if the Thurmond-Wright electors vote for the regular, and victorious, Democratic candidates, they will do more than break the pledges that won them a majority in Alabama, South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, and placed two of their number on the list in Tennessee. They will effectively disfranchise considerably more than half a million persons who voted for them.

Such an action would emphasize a deficiency in our voting system that is theoretically present in every presidential election, even though it seldom makes any actual difference. For, in spite of political tradition and practice, the voters have no legal voice in the choice of the president.

They may express a preference, as the Dixiecrat supporters did. But the electors whom they voted for can vote as they choose.

This year's election offered other reasons, of course, for giving the voters a more direct and secure means of selecting a president. The contest barely missed winding up in the House of Representatives, which would have taken the choice out of the people's hands entirely.

As a result of all this, the new Congress will undoubtedly have a chance to start the machinery for changing the system. One proposal, by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and Representative Gossett of Texas, has already been made public. It would not do away with electoral votes, but it would do away with the electors. And it would divorce a state's electoral votes between the candidates in proportion to their popular vote.

This arrangement, or simply a direct popular vote, would naturally end any danger that Congress, and not the people, might have the right to choose a president. It would abolish the chance that voters might find their support being recorded for a candidate whom they had opposed.

The present electoral system was a compromise among the delegates to the Constitutional Convention. But the controversy that brought it about has only historical interest today. Its meaning is blurred and dated, but its inequities are no less potent for being meaningless.

We can see no reason why a proper reverence for the Constitution should blind Congress to this obvious flaw. The logical action will be for the legislators to draft an amendment which will make the letter conform to the spirit of our free and secret ballot, and then let the people vote on it.

Methodist Church
Officials Deny Committee Report

New York, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Council of Bishops of the Methodist church says "we expressly deny that Communism has infiltrated our Protestant churches."

The bishops' statement was prepared at the Council's meeting in Cincinnati last Thursday in answer to a report of the House committee on Un-American Activities dealing with Communism and religion.

The House committee, in a pamphlet report entitled "one hundred things you should know about Communism," issued Nov. 22, said Communists are seeking to corrupt religion in the United States by infiltrating into churches and church organizations. The report said that "in all their plans and actions, the Communists mark down religion as enemy No. 1."

The bishops declared last Saturday the "apparent effect" of the House Committee's report "is to create the impression that the churches have been infiltrated by Communists and that responsible leaders of the churches follow the party line."

"We who know the church know these charges to be false," the bishops asserted. "We deplore any statement from any source which defames a great Christian communion representing millions of faithful Christians and loyal Americans."
"We, the bishops of the church, seek to practice Christian charity and to exemplify the grace of patience, but we cannot and will not remain silent when confronted by

COGNAC BY ANOTHER NAME

Rome—(AP)—Italian makers of strong drink are hunting for a synonym for "cognac." From time immemorial, they have labeled brandy so.

Now, under a new Italo-French trade pact that protects the name "cognac" in the Italian market, they will have to find something new by next July 1. Favorites at the moment are understood to be "coniac" (with an "i" instead of "g"), "vin-iac," "viniac arzento," "brandy tre stelle" (three stars) and "arzento." The last is reported slightly in the lead.

"Sausage" comes from the Latin "salsus," meaning salted or preserved meat.

To Open 2nd Floor Of Lincoln's Home To The Public

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 7. — (AP) — Plans are being made to open to the public for the first time the second floor of Abraham Lincoln's home here.

About $12,000 in state funds will be spent by the division of parks and memorials to restore the upstairs of the 10-room home—the only home Lincoln ever owned.

A new stairway will be built leading to the upper floor where there were five bedrooms, one of them a guest room and another a maid's room. The rooms will be restored with furniture of Lincoln's period.

The homestead, white with green shutters, was given to the state in 1877 by Lincoln's eldest son, Robert Todd.

It was built originally in 1839 by the Rev. Charles Dresser, the minister who married Lincoln and Mary Todd. The home was painted Quaker brown when Lincoln purchased it in 1844 for $1,500.

He lived in it until 1860 when he was elected president. Three of his children were born there and one died there.

Most of the furniture which Lincoln owned in the home is gone. Some is in a museum in Philadelphia and some was lost in the Chicago fire.

WILL MOVE TO ELGIN

Mrs. Gertrude Sentney, who has operated a beauty shop for the past four and a half years in the Gilbert building on West State street, has sold the business and is preparing to move to Elgin, Ill.

District Home Advisers To Meet Here Dec. 8, 9

A two-day conference of home advisers and assistant home advisers in the West Central district will get under way here Wednesday morning.

The conference opens at 9:30 and will be in session all day Wednesday.

There will also be a session Wednesday night. The conference will continue through Thursday. Meetings are to be held in the basement of the Public Library.

KATHRYN V. BURNS

Information on program planning is scheduled to be given at the conference. Some discussion will also be devoted to the preparation of the home advisers' annual reports which are to be presented to the home economics extension branch of the University of Illinois by the end of December. A state report will be prepared at the university and sent to the Department of Agriculture in Washington.

Mrs. Kathryn VanAken Burns, state leader and acting vice-director of the home economics extension service, will preside over the sessions. Other specialists from the university are also expected to attend.

An attendance of 25 home advisers or more is anticipated. This is the first time in several years that the conference is being held in Jacksonville. Mrs. Mildred Seeman, home adviser for Morgan and Scott counties, is in charge of arrangements.

Aggregate weight of the dome on the U. S. Capitol building is 8,909,200 pounds.

Stop Seining At Lake Mauvaisterre

Seining operations at Lake Mauvaisterre have been halted, at least temporarily, after a disappointing haul of rough fish last week.

Alderman Kelly made that announcement to the council Monday night, stating that the commercial fishermen who started to seine Lake Mauvaisterre have gone to Carlinville to seine a lake there.

"The carp taken from Lake Mauvaisterre in the haul last week were very poor," Kelly said. "They were so thin, in fact, that the fishermen didn't keep any of them, but returned them to the lake."

Kelly said the haul netted only 100 pounds of carp. The number of fine bass and crappie caught in the seine, and released immediately, was good news to game fishermen.

Seining for rough fish may be resumed later this winter if the weather permits. It is believed some sections of the lake may produce a larger haul.

Waltz into Darkness

THE STORY: Durand's money finally gives out. When he returns to his room, he finds a note from the landlady, telling him that the money has been taken from his room. He is forced to leave the house and find a new place to live.

ABOUT four or five days later, he was returning toward the house from one of his walks—walks which had become habitual by now—when suddenly her figure came into view far ahead of him, some two or three road crossings in advance, but going the same way he was.

It was useless to have hailed her; she would not have stopped. She was too far ahead. The separation was too great even for him to have hoped to overtake her within a worthwhile time by breaking into a run; she would have been almost back at their own door by the time he had done so. Moreover, there was no reason for undue haste, no emergency, he would see her soon enough.

She had not been in sight only a moment before, and the point at which she had suddenly appeared was midway between two of the intervening road crossings, so he surmised she must have emerged from some doorway or establishment at approximately that location just as he caught sight of her. When he had gained the same general vicinity himself, in due course, he turned to look sideways, out of what was at first merely superficial curiosity, as he went past, to see where it was she had come from.

Superficial curiosity became outright surprise at a glance, and halted him in his tracks. The building flanking him was the postoffice.

There was no reason for her to seek it out but one: subterfuge. There was a mailbox for the taking of their letters on the selfsame street with them; there was a carrier for the bringing of their letters.

ters who went past their very door. And what letters did they get anyway? Who knew they were here? Who knew who they were?

Uneasy now, he had turned and gone in before even considering what he was about to do. And then once in, wished he hadn't, and tried to turn about and leave again. But uneasiness proved stronger than his reluctance to spy upon her, and forced him at last to approach the garter-sleeved clerk behind a wicket bearing the legend "General Delivery."

"I was looking for someone," he said shamefacedly. "I must have missed her. Has there been a little blond lady—oh, no higher than this—in here within the past few minutes?"

The clerk's eyes lit up, as with an afterglow. "Yes, sir," he said heartily. "She was at this very window just a few minutes ago." He spruced up one of his arm bands, then the other. "She was asking for a letter."

Durand's throat was dry, but he forced the obstructive question from it. "And did she—Did you have one for her?"

"Sure enough did." The clerk wagged his head in reflective admiration, made a popping sound with his tongue against some empty tooth-shell in his mouth. "Miss Mabel Greene," he reminded. "She must be new around here, I don't recall ever—"

But Durand wasn't there anymore. SHE was in the ground-floor sitting room. Bonnet and stole were gone, as if she had never had them on. She was standing before the center table fidgeting with some flowers. There was a scorched, cindery odor in the air, as if something small had burned a few moments ago.

"Back?" she said friendly, turning her face over-shoulder to him, then back to the flowers once more.

He inhaled twice in rapid succession, in quite involuntary confirmation of the foreign odor.

"Was that you I saw on the street just now?"

She took a moment to answer; though now could she be uncertain, if she had just returned? She took out one more flower. She turned it about by its stem, studying it for faults. She put it down. Then she turned about and faced him, readily enough. She saw his eyes rest for a moment on her plum-serve costume. It was only then she answered.

"Yes."

"Where were you, to the post office?"

"I had an errand," she said, steadily enough. "There was something I needed to buy." "You didn't go to the post office?"

"I did step into the post office," she said negligently. "To buy stamps. They are in my purse now. Do you wish to see them?"

"No," he said unhappily. "If you say you bought stamps, that ends it."

On her way out of the room, she let her hand trail, almost fondly, across the breadth of his back.

"You don't trust me, do you, Lou?" she said quite neutrally.

"I want to." She shrugged, in the doorway, as she went out. "Then do so, that is all you have to do. It's simple enough."

When he heard her light footsteps going up the stairs, he flung himself down at a couch before the fireplace, made rapid circling motions with his hands over its brick flooring. There was some brittle paper-ash lying on its otherwise scoured, blackened surface; very little, not enough to make a good-sized nest. He turned up a piece that had not been consumed, perhaps because it had been held by the burner's fingers to the last.

It bore a single word, in conclusion. "Billy." And even that was not wholly intact. The upper closure of the "B" had been opened, eaten into by the brown stain of flame.

Church Official In Statement On Greenfield Case

Washington, Dec. 7.—(P)—An official of the Seventh-Day Adventist church said last night that a Greenfield, Ill., couple holding their child out of public school "misrepresent the position of the Seventh-Day Adventists denomination on religious liberty and education."

A charge has been filed against Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Levisen, young Greenfield couple, alleging they are violating the Illinois compulsory school attendance law. They are keeping a 7-year-old daughter out of school. Levisen is a lumber dealer and sawmill operator.

Mrs. Levisen was quoted as saying that "Bible instruction and the word of God is the most important part of a child's schooling to believers in our denomination. Public schools put this phase of education last."

The church statement, issued by Louis K. Dickson, vice-president of the general conference, said "the denomination is strongly opposed to the teaching of religion in public schools" and "obedience to civil laws, such as those requiring attendance at school, as long as they are not in conflict with God's laws, is a basic tenet of the Adventist Faith."

The Levisens said they will carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary. They said they are teaching their daughter from the same textbooks used in the Greenfield public schools. Classes at home open with a prayer, they said.

Their case is scheduled in circuit court at Carrollton, Ill., sometime in January or February.

Claims She Was Misquoted
At Greenfield, Mrs. Levisen said she was disturbed by what she termed inaccurate quotes attributed to her. She said she and her husband's beliefs coincide with those of her church and that she was misquoted by a Chicago newspaper and a press association.

The Associated Press did not carry the statements. She said she and her husband firmly agree with Dickson's statement in Washington that "the denomination is strongly opposed to the teaching of religion in public schools, holding that the practice would tend toward church-state union."

She said one of the church's principles is that parents shall be the only teachers of their children until the age of eight years. She said her daughter's study is based on a correspondence course from the church's school in Washington.

Dickson pointed out in his statement that the church conducts 3,500 elementary schools and 300 secondary schools and colleges because it is alarmed "over the conditions of religious illiteracy in the world."

Tigers Clip Perry Hoopsters 45 To 36 In PMBC Contest

After trailing during the entire first half, Spike Wilson's ISD cagers put on a last half drive that netted them 29 points and a PMBC conference victory over the Perry Hoopsters on the Pike county floor last night.

Perry used a zone and worked this type defense to perfection in the first half. The host school led the Jacksonville quint 17 to 16 at halftime after a very slow two periods of play. The pint-sized court was too small for the west-enders to use their fast break, and the cramped quarters gave the host school a great advantage with their zone defenses. Hood and Ceci collaborated for a few markers before intermission to keep the Tigers in the ball game.

Murakowski Voted Best Opponent By Notre Dame

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Notre Dame's football warriors, enroute home after their 14-14 tie with Southern California Saturday, today voted Northwestern's Art Murakowski as the outstanding player on their all-opponent team.

Murakowski, chosen first team fullback on the 1948 Associated Press All-America team, received the most votes from Notre Dame players—32 out of a possible 34.

So close was the voting that the team has five guards, Joe Grothaus, Iowa, was the choice of 10 members of the squad while four others received nine votes each.

Southern California placed only one man, Don Doll, backfield ace, on the first team but the Trojans actually led the voting, having a total of 11 men receiving mentions.

Votes were cast for nine Purdue players, eight from Michigan State, seven from Northwestern, six from Iowa, six from Indiana, five from Pittsburgh, three from Navy and two each from Nebraska and Washington.

Rout Cops 53 To 26 Win From Chapin Five On Local Floor

Rout's Rockets ran, passed and shot the Chapin cagers dizzy as they swept to a 53 to 26 victory over Paul Blakeman's five on the Our Saviour's floor Tuesday night.

Chapin was never in the ball game after the Rockets warmed up half-way through the opening period. Chapin's high scoring center, Jimmy Bonds, was unable to hit a single quarter, and their efforts in that department for only two ringers the first half, leaving them on the short end of a 26 to 11 count at the close of that frame.

Six Rockets Score
Six men fought for Paul Stroud in the first quarter. The speedy Rocket guards found gaping holes in the Chapin defense and dribbled through repeatedly for lay-up shots to score. Joe Murphy and A. J. Spreen drove under the net twice each in the opening canto and tallied to push the local five into the lead 12 to 5 at the end of the first quarter.

D. Taylor hit a long one-hander from far out to score the only Chapin fielder in this frame; the remainder of the invaders tallies came from gift tosses.

Chapin fought back after the intermission, and enjoyed their best period, keeping even with the Rockets for seven minutes, and then falling behind in the last sixty seconds of that quarter to be outscored by the Rout quint 10 to 7.

Jimmy Bonds, Chapin center, suddenly found himself in the last frame and dunked the ball twice in quick succession from the floor, and followed up with two free throws, before fouling out with four minutes of play remaining. Meanwhile, seven Rout players were collecting a total of 17 points to win the contest going away.

Murphy Leads Locals
Joe Murphy led local scorers with 11 markers, while Jimmy Bonds was high gunner for the invading quint with 9 tallies. This was the second PMBC tilt for Rout and their record in that conference now stands even with one win against one loss.

The Rocket reserves took the total of 17 points to win the contest going away.

Mt. Sterling—The local basketball five won its first game of the season here Tuesday night by defeating the invading P.M.B.C. Chambersburg quintet by a 41-36 tally.

Mt. Sterling had previously lost to Winchester, Camp Point and Quincy.

Roodhouse Fourth Victim Of Wade's D. P. Cage Five

Coach Merle Wade's cagers maintained their perfect record Tuesday evening when they met the Roodhouse aggregation at David Prince gym. The score was 44-24.

The David Prince quint finally got to clicking good enough to cop their first victory of the year, blasting the visiting Roodhouse seconds by a 32-10 count.

It was the fourth straight victory for the older squad. Wright, who has been averaging about 18 points per game, collected exactly that number last night.

McGlenning, with 8, was the big wheel for the losers.

The David Prince outfit will take on I.S.D. there at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 15. The next home game will be with the talented Pittsfield five at 4 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 21, at the David Prince gym.

For instance, the Chicago White Sox sold a first baseman yesterday. And Frank Lane, the new general manager, said he has offered $100,000 in cash and three players for third baseman Bob Dillinger of the St. Louis Browns.

Then, too, there was word the Browns were dicker with the New York Yankees over Dillinger and that the White Sox had some sort of negotiations on with the Yankees for third baseman Bill Johnson. Lane also is reported to be interested in some pitchers.

The sale of Tony Lupien by the White Sox to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league left the Sox with a rookie and a second baseman that can be converted, if need be.

A meeting of league presidents and the presidents' dinner were all that remained before the 57th annual convention of the National Association of professional leagues opens formally tomorrow morning.

It will end Friday.

Two-Family House Near Carrollton Burns To Ground

The two story house on a farm owned by O. L. Wheeler and known as the Hunt house burned to the ground Sunday at 10 a.m. during the severe windstorm which swept Carrollton throughout the day. The farm is located at the south edge of the city. The fire department was called, but was unable to check the flames fanned by the high winds.

Two families occupied the house. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wheeler. The furniture and clothing belonging to the Robinsons was lost in the fire, which apparently broke out on the roof of their side of the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were away from home at the time.

Committee Tells How Convalescent Home Can Be Established

The committee headed by Dr. V. T. J. Lenth which was appointed several months ago to investigate the feasibility of converting the Morgan County Farm Home into a convalescent home for the aged persons of Morgan county has completed its report, which has been submitted to the county board of commissioners, which created the committee.

The report contains numerous recommendations and includes an estimate of the cost of reconversion.

The committee also submitted an alternative proposal in which it recommended that prior to the expenditure of any funds for the renovation of the county farm, the possibility of acquiring the present facilities of Passavant hospital be investigated fully.

Passavant hospital is planning to construct a new hospital on a site northwest of Jacksonville on State Route 104.

The committee's report in full follows:

Recommendations for the conversion of the county farm prepared by the citizens' committee, appointed by the Board of County Commissioners. Finally adopted Nov. 17, 1948.

I. Name
It is recommended that the name of the home be divorced from any reference to poor farm, county farm or such reference to pauper relief. Such names as Ridgewood Home, Hillcrest Home, or Fairview seem appropriate.

II. Organization
A. Governing Body.
a. It is recommended that a board of directors of seven members be appointed.

b. It is recommended that this board be appointed by the county commissioners.

c. It is recommended that at least three of these members be physicians who are members of the Morgan County Medical society, such members to be approved by that organization.

d. It is recommended that the term of office for members of the board shall be for a period of three years, except that members of the first board to be appointed shall be divided into one, two and three year members: three for one year, two for two years, and two for three years.

e. Appointments to the board, to fill the vacancies of retiring members, should be made annually.

f. Meetings of the board should be held quarterly. Special meetings should be called at the discretion of the chairman or at the request of any three members. At the first meeting of each year the board should select its chairman and secretary. A quorum should be necessary for action requiring the consideration of the board.

g. Operation of the home should be under the direct control of the board of directors, who should be responsible to the board of county commissioners.

B. Operating Personnel.
a. Superintendent. (To have charge of building, buying, etc.)
b. Director of nursing care (To be a registered nurse.)

The selection of all operating personnel should be the responsibility of the board of directors. In the process of organization and the initiation of operation, it may be advisable to combine the offices of a and b.

c. Practical nurses and nurse aides (9).
d. Kitchen personnel (4).
e. Cleaning personnel (4).
f. General maintenance (3).
g. Heating and firing (3).

The actual number of personnel to be employed to be determined by the board of directors, based upon the number of patients to be served, and made to conform with the state health and fire laws and regulations.

III. Real Estate and Physical Plant
Inspection of the building by qualified authorities indicates that it meets all requirements as to soundness, but reveals that there are certain major defects which must be remedied in order to guarantee the health and safety of the occupants. Cognizant of these defects and others revealed as the result of personal inspection by members of the fact-finding committee, the committee respectfully submits the following recommendations:

a. That such corrections as indicated in the report of the fire marshal be included in the initial changes.

b. That the changes suggested by Mr. Harry Crabtree, building engineer, be made. This includes replacing of soft brick, correcting defects of boiler room, etc., as shown in the attached memorandum, with cost estimate.

c. Removal and junking of all metal doors and gratings and replacement with wooden doors with screen grills.

d. Equipping the rooms with modern beds and clothes lockers. It is suggested that rooms for patients requiring bed care should be equipped with modern hospital-type furniture. Rooms for residents who are able-bodied may be furnished with suitable home type furniture. It is further suggested that the board of directors should set up a system for the approval of furniture donated to this part of the home.

e. Improvement of the kitchen and dining facilities to conform with the recommendations of the Department of Public Health.

f. That the farm itself should be rented out, on the usual local basis, with the exception of 60 acres, to be reserved for the home, for landscaping, truck gardening, chickens, etc. (This for as long as the county continues to own the entire farm.)

h. That proper records be kept of all farming operations including complete accounts on all livestock and farm produce raised and consumed on the farm.

IV. Sanitation
a. Provision of an adequate water supply. Consideration should be given not only to location of an adequate source, but also to the eventual erection of a water tower or standpipe. Immediate steps should be taken to comply with the recommendations of the State Department of Public Health.

b. Adequate disposal of sewage. The present system is considered to be satisfactory for about 40 persons. So long as this disposal system meets with the approval of the State Health Department, no changes should be made. However, the need for future extension should be kept in mind in the original planning.

c. Recommendations of the State Health Department in regard to plumbing changes should be carried out at once. (This includes references to soil pipe, faucets, lavatories, hot water supply.) The survey should include also location of possible future bathrooms.

V. Admissions
a. The facilities of the home should be available to indigent recipients of Illinois Public Aid commission, self-supporting or pay-patients who are in need of actual hospital care, who are residents of Morgan county. There should be no restrictions because of creed, color or political affiliation.

b. Non-resident applicants might be admitted, subject to the approval of the board of directors.

c. No mental patients should be admitted.

Chairman Lists Schools Enrolled In Jr. Red Cross

Mrs. John T. Taylor, chairman of the Morgan County Red Cross chapter's committee for Junior Red Cross, has announced the schools enrolled in the Junior Red Cross program for the coming year.

Throughout the county they are the Franklin High and Grade schools; Alexander Grade school; Waverly High and Grade schools; Nortonville Grade school; Concord Grade school; South Jacksonville Community Consolidated Grade School No. 2; Litterberry Community Consolidated Grade School No. 3; Lynnville Community Consolidated Grade School No. 4; Harmony; Bethel; Lower; Union Grove; Cross Roads; Central Point; Prairie Union; East Hickory; Sherman; Morton; Arcadia; Independence; North Oakland; Elkhorn; West Liberty; Kinman; and Woodson Grade school.

Local schools enrolled are Jacksonville High school; David Prince Junior High; Jefferson school; Lafayette school; Franklin school and Washington school.

The Junior Red Cross News, the monthly magazine for elementary schools, and the Red Cross Journal, the monthly magazine for high schools, will be started in January. Mrs. Taylor urged those schools which have not as yet enrolled in Junior Red Cross to do so immediately in order to assure their receiving the magazine.

President McClelland recognized the juniors, congratulated them on past and present progress, and presented for their future inspiration an address on "The Central Figure of History."

He reminded them that this figure, Jesus, was a fact; that he was human and so could be measured by the standards by which we measure human greatness. "The first standard is quality of mind," Dr. McClelland said, "and here he is unrivaled in charm, depth, originality, and universality by any other of the world's great thinkers. He is the inspirer of thousands of books, and the implications of his teachings are still unexplored."

Influence Unequaled
The second standard is influence, and here he is unequalled. Dr. McClelland said. He changed the course of history; he has commanded the loyalty of millions of disciples through 2000 years, and all social progress is due to his teaching.

Character is the third standard, and in this he is unique. His is a symmetrical pattern of goodness, for he perfectly embodied what he taught. All these qualities, coupled with his revelation of the divine, give him a universality, a comprehensive radiance that meets the heart of every person everywhere, the speaker concluded.

A special musical number was the Alleluia from the meter "Exultate Jubilate" by Mozart, sung by a sextette of choir members. Ralph Robbins was at the organ for all the musical numbers.

Program Given At Meeting Of Lutheran Ladies

A varied program was presented at the annual Christmas meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Trinity Lutheran church at Arenzville, held at the home of Mrs. John Fricke.

Included on the program were group singing; a one-act play, "Station XMAS," with Mrs. A. H. Klein-schmidt, Mrs. Albert Wessler, Mrs. John Fricke, Mrs. Bud Morrison and Mrs. Homer Fricke; duet by Mrs. Jack Burrus and Mrs. William Maschmeier; humorous reading, Mrs. Verna Mary Roegge; duet, Mrs. Ray Lovekamp and Mrs. O. W. Hackman; and "Till We Meet Again" by the committee in charge of the party, Mrs. Albert Winkelman, chairman, Mrs. Albert Witte, Mrs. Ed Witte, Mrs. Harold Witte, Mrs. Henry Witte and Mrs. Louis Witte.

Mrs. Winkelman also headed the program committee. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Harold Witte. The Rev. W. V. Neundorff had charge of the devotional period. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Jack Burrus, who also presented a summary of the group's work during the past year.

It was reported by Mrs. Albert Wessler that seven sick calls had been made during November. Several letters of thanks from the society's adopted orphan overseas were read. It was announced that six quilts and four pads had been sent to an orphanage.

A gift exchange took place, with the gifts placed under a large lighted tree. Forty-three members and eight guests were present.

VI. Medical Care
a. Recipients of the convalescent home facilities should have the right to select their own physician, and should not be unduly influenced in their choice, if they have no family physician.

b. An infirmary should be provided for the care of non-ambulatory patients.

c. The physician members of the board of directors should constitute a special health committee, to which all matters of health, sanitation and policies of medical care should be referred.

d. It is further suggested that in the beginning, the space available be divided about evenly between ambulatory and non-ambulatory patients.

VII. Recreation and Occupational Therapy
a. Every resident who is able should be assigned some duties in the home.

b. Provision should be made for lounges, reading rooms, radio, movies and a regular recreational program.

c. A part-time occupational therapist should be engaged, to organize and supervise both work and recreational activities.

d. Attention should be given to the transportation problem, so that staff, residents and visitors may be able to go back and forth to Jacksonville easily. Special provision should be made for church attendance for those desiring it.

VIII. Finance
It is recommended that this committee meet with the county commissioners to work out the means of financing this project.

IX. Alternative Proposal
It is recommended that prior to the expenditure of any funds for the renovation of the county farm, the possibility of acquiring the present facilities of Passavant hospital be investigated fully.

Respectfully submitted,
Vincent T. J. Lenth, M.D., chairman.
Mrs. Helen C. Foreman, secretary.
Clarence York, Mrs. Fletcher Blackburn, Harold McDevitt, Mrs. Harold Joy, Helen Sweeney, Harry Crabtree, C. P. Hedrick, M. M. Blair, Cloyd DeFreitas, Louis Neirman, Walter DeShara, W. L. Fay, Mrs. A. R. Gregory.

MacMurray Juniors Recognized Tuesday

Miss Joan Lint, MacMurray College junior, received the Conlee-Kent cup at the official recognition of the junior class held at the chapel services Tuesday morning.

This cup is given annually to the junior, who in her sophomore year, has most nearly personified the ideals of the college as expressed in its motto, "Knowledge, Faith and Service."

Miss Lint is a home economics major, secretary of the Student Government association and a member of Belles Lettres society.

The award was made by Mrs. Dorothy Graham Negus of Alexander, a member of the class of 1932, which founded the cup in memory of Rosalie Conlee and Frances Kent, two of the class who died shortly after graduation.

Juniors Congratulated
President McClelland recognized the juniors, congratulated them on past and present progress, and presented for their future inspiration an address on "The Central Figure of History."

He reminded them that this figure, Jesus, was a fact; that he was human and so could be measured by the standards by which we measure human greatness. "The first standard is quality of mind," Dr. McClelland said, "and here he is unrivaled in charm, depth, originality, and universality by any other of the world's great thinkers. He is the inspirer of thousands of books, and the implications of his teachings are still unexplored."

Influence Unequaled
The second standard is influence, and here he is unequalled. Dr. McClelland said. He changed the course of history; he has commanded the loyalty of millions of disciples through 2000 years, and all social progress is due to his teaching.

Character is the third standard, and in this he is unique. His is a symmetrical pattern of goodness, for he perfectly embodied what he taught. All these qualities, coupled with his revelation of the divine, give him a universality, a comprehensive radiance that meets the heart of every person everywhere, the speaker concluded.

A special musical number was the Alleluia from the meter "Exultate Jubilate" by Mozart, sung by a sextette of choir members. Ralph Robbins was at the organ for all the musical numbers.
